Miklos Schwalb arrived in Carmel at midweek to take part in the twenty-third annual Bach Festival. A native of Budapest, he is a member of the faculty of Boston's New England Conservatory, and a veteran of many concerts on both sides of the Atlantic.

He will play in recital at 11:00 o'clock Friday morning in the Carmel Woman's Club, and appear as soloist with the Bach Festival Orchestra Saturday night.

Much Great Music Still To Be Heard In Second Half Of Bach Festival

Today the twenty-third Carmel Bach Festival reaches the half-way point in its week-long series of musical activity which began Monday evening. Final curtain will follow the evening performance of Bach's St. Matthew Passion Sunday night in Sunset Auditorium.

Tonight's concert, which will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium, has been planned around the theme of A Baroque Christmas, with emphasis on the festive tastes of music lovers of the 17th and 18th centuries.

Soloists for Pietro Locatelli's Concerto Grosso, which opens the program, will be Rosemary Waller and Dorothy Bales, violinists; John Cox and Thomas Hall, violists, and Laurence Lesser, cellist.

Soprano Nancy Foster, contralto Jacqueline Layng, tenor Richard Riffel and bass Roderick Risto complete the list of soloists for Victoria's Magnificat Sexti Toni, and Miss Waller, who is also concertmaster of the Festival Orchestra, will again be soloist for Vivaldi's L'Inverno from Concerti delle Stagioni.

For Bach's Magnificat, also to be performed tonight, soloists will be Marie Gibson, Margot Blum, Richard Riffel, Kay McCracken, Florine Hemmings and Roderick Risto, vocalists; Ray Fabrizio and Louise diTullio, flutists, and Raymond Duste, oboist.

Noted pianist Miklos Schwalb will appear in recital Friday morning in the Carmel Woman's Club at 11:00 o'clock, playing Johann Christian Bach's Sonata in E Major and J. S. Bach's Three-part Inventions, Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, and English Suite in A Minor.

Friday's evening concert at the usual hour in the auditorium is built around the theme, Paris in Bach's Time: The Concerts Spirituels. Miss Waller and Miss Bales will perform Le Chevalier de St. George's Symphonie Concertante for the first time on this coast, and James Schwabacher will be tenor soloist for Bach's Cantata No. 55.

Two Million Bond Election For New School On Oct. 4

Carmel district school trustees last night set October 4 as the date for a $1,995,000 bond election to build a new school at the mouth of the Valley. Also, they accepted for transmission today to the county superintendent's office a publication budget of $1,567,300. This represents a reduction of $68,631 from the budget submitted on July 13.

The new school, as advised by the Citizens Council, will be the start of high school facilities at the Valley mouth, although used immediately as a junior high school. Later, when enrollment trends are known, the school will be converted to its original intended use as a high school. Construction cost of the school to be $1,520,000.

Other costs in the bond issue with a term of 20 years will be: sites for the high school and an adjacent elementary school at Valley mouth, $127,000; Tulareitos School area sites for two elementary schools and a junior high, $185,000; addition to Carmelo School, $103,000; renovations at Sunset, $20,000; bus garage, $15,000; bus service station at Tulareitos, $10,000; expansion at River School, $15,000.

Among budget cuts made by trustees last night to balance the budget: administrative classified salaries, $3,500; certificated salaries, $5,400, by eliminating provision for an extra kindergarten

Bach Festival Review

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Heralding the opening of the 23rd Carmel Bach Festival, the welcome sounds of the brass choir from the window above the door of Sunset Auditorium flowed out on the evening air Monday night. Listening were not only the arriving concert audience but many on the sidewalks who could not purchase admission as the entire house was sold out. This condition will exist until we ultimately get a ing made a sympathetic and reverend rendition which passed to the lament and its tender melody within the chorale played by Altman.

Theodore Uppman, baritone from the Metropolitan, sang the impressively poignant arias and recitatives from the sacred Kreutzstab Cantata, accompanied by Raymond Duste's telling oboe above the orchestra. Uppman's voice and delivery had sympathy, authority, charm and power for which an ovation was demonstrated with the recalling of him again and again with Salgo, and the ensemble.

Roberta and Colin Sterne with their recorders played the Concerto in F, with Ralph Linsley at the harpsichord, that also raised much enthusiastic response. Salgo had wisely placed the Cantata No. 140—Sleepers Wake, a Voice is Calling—for the second half of the program which sent everyone home elated with its ringing themes and absolute joyousness of the spiritual marriage-union subject. Soloists in this were Marie Gibson, bride, Rodrik Risto, the bridegroom, and the narrator Richard Riffel, with concert-master Rosemary Waller, Raymond Duste and the entire chorus and orchestra. 3 Councilmen Disapprove Of Downgrading C1S

Three city councilmen told the city planning commission last night that they do not approve of C-2 uses (service and light industry) in the C-1-S zone of the planners' proposed new zoning ordinance.

That in general they do not approve of conditional uses of which there are over 35 in the proposed ordinance and only one in the existing zoning ordinance.

Planners Say No To River Trailer Court

Carmel Planning Commissioners yesterday afternoon voted unanimously against rezoning of 13 acres at the mouth of the Valley for a 110-unit trailer park. Their decision will be communicated to the county planning commission at a public hearing on the rezoning Tuesday in Salinas.

The rezoning is requested by Charles F. (Bud) Giles for land owned by the Odello brothers along the north bank of Carmel River, 400 yards east of Highway 1 bridge. On this property Giles proposes to construct Carmel Valley Mobile Park for retired and semi-retired occupants.

The rezoning matter was referred to the Carmel Planning Commission by the county commission for a recommendation. Commissioner George Willox in a land use committee report stated that rezoning the land from agricultural-one acre or more residential use for a trailer park was not compatible with the environment of the Valley mouth area and against proposals of the Carmel Master Plan.

Commissioner Hugh Smith said the rezoning would adversely affect property values in the vicinity of the trailer park. He wanted strong statements in the letter

Carmel planning commissioners yesterday afternoon passed a resolution to support the stand of the board of supervisors against billboard interests. A county ordinance prohibiting billboards in the county except on commercially zoned land, is being tested in court by the Foster and Kleiser billboard company.

A new patrolman joined the Carmel police force this morning. He is Peter Koenen, 23, five feet, nine inches tall, and married, also a graduate of Monterey High School and Monterey Peninsula College. Recently released from active Army duty, he served with the Provost Marshal's Office in Germany from 1957-60 as a military policeman.

Carmel planning commissioners recommended against rezoning of four lots in Handley/Hills subdivision from single family residence to duplex use. Their decision will go to the county planning commission. (Continued on Page Twenty)

That they do not approve of putting present non-conforming uses (including existing gasoline stations) on use permit.

The three councilmen are: Francis Whitaker, Eben Whittlesey and Gunnar Norberg.

This is a majority of the five-man city council, whose approval must be gotten for the planning commission's new zoning ordinance to be adopted.

The planning commission met last night with the city council to receive instructions on how they are to proceed with the central district plan which, after the strong objections that developed at public hearing last month, the council has shorn of its traffic flow pattern, Ocean Avenue Pedestrian Park (Mall) and Mountain View Avenue closure at Ocean Avenue.

Last night the council softened the rejection with assurances on the part of Councilmen John Chitwood and Eben Whittlesey and Mayor Frank Putnam that it is a good traffic plan but not wanted now by the citizens, not needed yet but should be "kept in the files" for the time when the Carpenter Street overpass and the Valley shopping center come into being.

The only features of the plan which have survived the council's public hearing are the creation of four zones out of the two central district zones and the designation of the city's Junipero Street property as a city hall site.

In informal discussion, councilmen proposed various jobs for the planning commission, not necessarily connected with the central district plan. The one that had relevance, proposed by Whitaker, was that the commission designate the various pieces of city property: Devendorf Plaza, tennis courts, Forest Theater, beach, several canyons and natural areas as P-2 (public lands with some improvements such as Devendorf Plaza, or recreational facilities, such as the tennis courts) and P-1 (public lands to be kept in their natural state). These classifications, along with a P-3 classification, parking parks, were added this spring as amendments to the existing zoning ordinance and will be carried over into the proposed new zoning ordinance.

Whitaker also suggested that the planning commission make sure of the legal status of driveways, grades and sidewalks before approving a building permit; also he proposed that the planning commission encourage harmony between planting on private property and in the sidewalk areas when landscaping around a proposed new structure is up for approval.

There was no suggestion, however, for procedure or how the (Continued on Page Four)

John Sebastian Bach Incomparable Composer Was A Man Of Paradox

Johann Sebastian Bach, incomparable composer and man of paradox, knew early grief and yet acquired joy and faith; lacked personal riches though he added to the richness of civilization. He leaves no known blood descendants though his spiritual descendants and admirers overflow the world.

Called Sebastian presumably after the martyr, he was born at Eisenbach in 1685 into a family which had been producing musicians for two entire centuries before his arrival. It seemed almost a case of having the stage set for his coming. So wedded were the Bachs to music that in the hamlet of Erfurt musicians were known as "Bachs," it is said, long after the family had moved from the town.

When he was ten years old, Sebastian's parents died. The orphan was sent to live with his organist brother Christoph, who reared him but was professionally jealous of him, a situation which gave rise to the story of Sebastian's copying the forbidden music from the locked cabinet by moonlight.

Christoph died too, when Sebastian was 15, and the youngster went to Luneburg to be chorister at the School of St. Michael. Another famous Bach legend is told of this period, that of Sebastian's holiday expedition on foot to Hamburg to hear the famous organist Reinken.

On the way home, also by foot, he rested in his penniless state under the window of an inn where dinner was being served, but not to him, of course. Two fish heads were flung to the boy, each containing a ducat. The money he used not for dinner, not to pay for a ride home, but to pay his way back again to Hamburg to hear another concert.

The age of 19 saw Bach organist at Arnstadt; at 22 he held a similar position at Mulhausen the year he married his cousin and wrote his first great cantatas. In the following years his career as a musician moved rapidly. In 1708 he went to Weimar where six years later, before he was 30 he became hofkonzertmeister to the Duke of Weimar.

In 1717 he visited Dresden on the concert tour during which he challenged the French organist J. Louis Marchand. (Bach won by default.) From 1717 to 1723 he was kapellmeister to the Duke of Cothen where he wrote his central instrumental works including the Brandenburg Concertos.

Sebastian's wife died in 1720, leaving seven children, including Karl Philipp Emanuel and Friedmann. Three years later, following his second marriage to the soprano for whom he wrote his arias, Anna Magdalena, Sebastian went to Leipzig as cantor for the Thomasschule. It was here he wrote the St. Matthew Passion and the B Minor Mass.

His famous visit to Frederick the Great at Potsdam took place in 1747, the time Bach considered the culmination of his career. Two years later his sight failed and on July 28, 1750 he died of apoplexy, mourned by Europe as one of its greatest organists, hardly thought of as a composer.

It only remained then for Mendelssohn to find the autograph of the Matthew Passion in the Royal Library of Berlin and give the first performance of it since Bach's death. This led to the rediscovery, or some believe the first real discovery, of Johann Sebastian Bach.

In 1850 the Bach-Gesellschaft was formed, and in its half century of operation rounded up the scattered Bach manuscripts and published what is believed to be about four-fifths of the choral works.

And so it went with Bach. Only three of his first family of seven children survived him, only nine of his second family of 13. In his life other musicians considered his forms obsolete, but as a true artist he didn't care if a thing were new or old, only if it were good or bad.

His work was not revolutionary in the dramatic sense of the word, but rather a subtle force that perfected musical forms and laid the foundation for all who followed him: Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, Wagner, Brahms.

Our church, secular, instrumental and vocal music of today bears the stamp of his influence, and his heroic shadow is of a size to stretch also into the future.

Bids Invited To Replace Bridge At Willow Creek

Bridge construction and highway resurfacing on State Sign Route 1 (Cabrillo Highway) at the Willow Creek Bridge, approximately 63 miles south of Monterey, will soon get under way as State Division of Highways today began calling for bids on the project. See page 13.

Bids will be opened August 17 in Sacramento and actual work on the job will begin about September 1.

The project consists of replacing the existing timber bridge over Willow Creek, which was built in 1934, with a new 562-foot bridge of reinforced concrete. The new bridge will have a 28-foot wide roadway.

One-half mile of roadway approaches will be graded and resurfaced in conjunction with the bridge building project.

About $510,000 in State Highway Funds is available for the project which will take approximately 250 working days to complete.

Three Councilmen Disapprove Of Downgrading C-1-S

separate powers of the planning commission and the city council are to be reconciled in these matters. Grades, driveways, sidewalks, and tree planting are under the control of the council; approval of building plans and landscaping on private commercial property, under the planning commission.

When Planning Commission Chairman Herbert Blanks last night presented the revised proposed zoning ordinance as a committee report to the council, it was 9:50 o'clock and the council was working against an 11:00 o'clock adjournment.

Blanks' question as to the council's sentiment about the parking section of the proposed ordinance went unanswered.

Council sentiment was clear, though no actual vote was taken, on the following provisions of the proposed ordinances:

Three councilmen supported the planning commission in not setting a limit on building site size as proposed by Councilman Gunnar Norberg and supported up to a point by Whittlesey.

Councilman Chitwood, opposing the planning commission's requirement of 1000 square feet for each dwelling unit for multiple dwellings (motels, hotels) got no support from the rest of the council. The provision has been in force for several years under the interim zoning ordinance and has worked out satisfactorily.

Whitaker, seeing that time was running out, jumped earlier portions of the proposed ordinance to present his objections to the commission's "introducing C-2 uses in the proposed C-1-S zone." The C-1-S zone takes in all of the present protected C-1 zone except for the "Ocean Avenue core."

The planning commission proposes to allow as "conditional use" (on use permit at the discretion of the planning commission) blacksmith shops, building materials yards, bus depots and transit stations, cabinet shops, exterminators, shop and yard; feed and fuel stores, food lockers, gasoline service stations, heating and ventilating shops, ice storage houses, lumber yards, plumbing shops, sheet metal shops, uses that are not permitted in this area under the present ordinance but are confined to the northeast corner of town designated as C-2. Two other sources of noise, machinery repair shops and tool sharpening and grinding, at present prohibited, are included as permitted uses.

This downgrading of protected business property by introducing noisy and unsightly uses has met with opposition of the C-1-S property owners who held a first meeting at City Hall Monday night and engaged an attorney, Ralph Thompson, to represent them in the hearings before the planning commission and council.

To Blank's protest that these uses be "conditional" and the planning commission wouldn't allow them in an area "incompatible" with surrounding uses, Whittlesey pointed out that under the proposed ordinance "a person buying a piece of property would not know what might come in next door to him" since the use depended on the planning commission's opinion as to what is "compatible." Under the present ordinance no such powers are given the planning commission.

Blanks protested the three councilmen's objection to the planning commission's legalizing the present gas stations, now non-conforming uses, by putting them on use permit. He said the owners could not improve their non-conforming property. Whitaker said the county ordinance provides for a percentage of improvement yearly of non-conforming property. He added that the conditional use provisions might tend to "clustering" of C-2 uses around the present non-conforming uses, "and pretty soon you'd have a row of C-2 uses." He added that certain C-2 uses, lumber yards, fuel yards, etc., required a wide street for hauling in materials. There is a 100-foot wide street in the C-2 area where they are now confined. It would not be wise to allow them on the 50-foot street in the proposed C-1-S zone, he said.

sent to county commissioners recommending against the rezoning. He also indicated he wanted to see a "higher-type" residential use of the Odello land.

Chairman Herbert Blanks pointed out that if the county commission permits the trailer park for the limited clientele proposed by Giles, there is no guarantee of what future owners may do with the development. This was a grave consideration, he emphasized.

Commissioner J. B. Martin startled commissioners by stating that "They're going to have to let them (trailer parks) in somewhere." The Odello land was a better location for a trailer park than along the highway, he added. The land in question is rough, he continued, and requires too much time and money to be improved in residential use by individuals. He also thought the school board should be considered. The trailer park would bring in more school district revenue than residential use as the prohibitive cost of improving the rough land for residences would mean that "a mess of shacks" would be built on the property.

"I would rather see a shack in the middle of five acres than some other uses," countered Commissioner Florence Josselyn.

"We should not allow any chance to let in trailer parks," Commissioner Fred Keeble interjected.

"You're going to have to let them in," Mr. Martin repeated.

Chairman Blanks stated that Valley property owners, at a joint meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association and Carmel planning commissioners, had stated they were against the rezoning.

Commissioner Keeble moved that commissioners recommend against the trailer park. Commissioner Martin seconded the motion. Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, then requested that commissioners appear in person to uphold their stand at Tuesday's public hearing in Salinas. He also wanted city council members to be present, as well as any citizens interested in protesting the trailer park.

Ruth Warshawsky Gives Her Finest Performance In Wharf's The Visit

BY VIRGINIA SHAW

When a great play and a stunning performer coincide in what is sometimes called "a home-town production", gratitude should preclude any carping about refinements of casting, direction and staging which generally delimit the professional from the amateur.

Such a play is The Visit, and such a performer is Ruth Warshawsky.

What happens in the Wharf Theatre production is that the high demands of Friedrich Duerrenmatt's grimly sardonic masterpiece are met at one altitude by Mrs. Warshawsky and at another, considerably closer to the ground, by nearly everyone else connected with the enterprise. What would otherwise be a laudable stock-company rendering of a challenging play is undermined as well as uplifted by a single "pro" performance which—whether or not one is a Warshawsky fan—is grandly, confidently theatrical.

Whatever marks a masterpiece of theatre from a staged think-piece or an experimental entertainment, The Visit has it. Of contemporary playwrights, only Berthold Brecht — and possibly Samuel Beckett — share Duerrenmatt's effectiveness in putting across moral and intellectual ideas by compelling dramatic means. Certainly the role of Clara Zachanassian should rank as one of the great prima-donna opportunities of modern theatre. (It is, as most are aware, the role in which Lynne Fontanne is making one of her greatest stage appearances, magnificently supported by her husband, Alfred Lunt.)

The Visit is Clara's return to her native Middle European town of Gullen, impoverished by a mysterious recession which has sapped first its prosperity, then its purpose, finally its pride. Clara—now a fantastic, fabulously rich heiress — is the townspeople's hope for charity. She makes them a coldblooded offer: one billion marks in exchange for justice—specifically, the life of Anton Schill, the aging, popular shopkeeper who was once her lover, and who betrayed her.

In scenes of mounting tension and irony, Duerrenmatt depicts the corrosive effect of the offer on the shocked—but greedy—villagers, Schill's horrified recognition as they gradually sell out and his ultimate acceptance of the judgment; and through it all, waiting, watching, Clara's cynical certainty.

Of the many vengeful maenads brought to bloodthirsty life on the local stage by Ruth Warshawsky, none has given her special talents greater scope than Clara Zachanassian. It is a fantastic part, and everything she brings to it—her superb timing and economy of gesture, her commanding presence, throaty voice, mirthless laugh—is spellbinding.

Morgan Stock is cast in the equally important, more subtle role of Schill. His performance is generally capable and occasionally moving but it is flawed by a fatal — perhaps irrepressible — quirk of comedy which insidiously blunts the edge of some scenes, and in others, gets laughs where none seem intended.

Ron Robertson, George Gordon and Sam Karas contribute solid characterizations as the burgomaster, the teacher and the police chief, each coping with his conscience in a different way. Edward Bruce plays with sustained intensity as Clara's mysterious valet, Bobby, and a pair of blind men in her garish entourage are given chillingly stylized interpretation by Gary Winters and Terry McCasky. Charles Burks is excellent in one of the few lighter parts, that of Pedro, the bored Latin playboy whom Clara takes as her eighth husband, and Larry Nier is good as a sanctimonious pastor. The rest of the large cast is commendable, as well as versatile — many also perform in The Wharf's weekend production, West Side Story.

The technical difficulties of Duerrenmatt's play — numerous fast scene changes, a clutter of minor characters and incidents, a perhaps overlong buildup to the climax — are met at the Wharf with varying degrees of success. The staging is most effective when it employs the fewest props and gimmicks, with the best scenes simply lighted against a black drop. Clara's entrances — with her fabulous costumes and coiffeur, her cigars and sedan chair—alone eliminate the need for additional stage decoration.

Robert Carson directs The Visit, intensifying its effect with expressionistic touches which are skillfully handled, particularly in the crowd scenes. Much is contributed to the atmosphere by Vern Soden's lighting, and by the music and sound effects by Luther Musselman assisted by Allen Mitchell and Pete Fletcher. Eleanor Gamble and Ernie Caswell are in charge of costumes, which, with the flamboyant exception of those worn by Mrs. Warshawsky, are perhaps purposely drab.

The Agnes Moorhead's show, That Fabulous Redhead, opens at the Wharf Theatre on Tuesday for five performances, closing July 30. Curtain time is 8:30 o'clock.

Carol Hildebrand Sees A Spain No Tourist Ever Sees

Last week Mrs. Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand, just back from visiting her son Mark, an electronics technician with the Guided Missile Division, Minot, North Dakota, found awaiting her in Carmel a letter from her older daughter, Carol, who is touring Spain as a dancer with Headliners Company.

"The company travels mostly by bus," Carol reports, "and the roads are for the most part unpaved and narrow. Just fancy dozens of pieces of luggage, performers, musicians, stage crew, manager, plus a crate of pigeons (magician's act) and you have a very colorful and varied group. Never a dull moment. Everyone is a character. I'm the only American."

"I am seeing the Spain no tourist ever sees," Carol continues, "traveling back roads, going in back gates, dressing in matadors' dressing-rooms and dancing on stages erected over spots where blood was shed in the afternoon. The audiences are fantastic! The arenas hold thousands of people."

Carol had danced in Barcelona and Mallorca and was on her way to Valencia when she wrote. Before leaving for Spain she danced in the Balkans at Zagreb, also in Germany at Berlin and Dusseldorf. She graduated from Carmel High School in 1948 and was a popular Peninsula dancer and actress as a small child.

BRAVES FIRST-HALF COM.

LEAGUE CHAMPS

Compiling a 5-1 record in first-half play, Jack Miller and Kiyu Fukagawa's Braves breezed to the newly-former Community League championship on the strong right arms of pitchers Mike Brasher and Stan Cummings. Enroute to the title, the Braves stumbled only once as the Carmel Valley Indians upset them in an early-season game. The Dodgers, under the tutelage of Bill Rosenkranz and Van King, finished the first-half with a 4-2 record which was good enough to give them the runner-up spot.

Second-half play got underway Monday night with the Carmel Valley Indians and the Dodgers playing to a 6-6 deadlock which had to be called on account of darkness. The Indians picked up a solo in the first inning and they exploded for five runs in a big fourth-inning uprising. Five consecutive hits by Dechow, Taylor, Toner, Huff and Kennedy sparked the Indian rally. The Dodgers got four in the third and two in the fifth to pull even with the Valley lads and earn a final standoff. Rich Wise and Howdy King were the top hitters for the Dodgers, each getting two-for-three and scoring two runs apiece. Pitcher Huff was a standout for the Indians, striking out 13 Dodger swingers and hitting a perfect two-for-two.

The Woolsey-Baxter Giants knocked off the first-half champs in Tuesday night's fracas as Greg Jones and Tim Mosolf teamed up to pitch the upset win. Behind, 2 to 0, going into the third heat, the Giants knotted the count as Greg Jones drove in a pair of markers with a well-hit single. The scrappy Braves forged ahead again in the fourth as Halle walked, stole second and third, and scored on a fielder's choice. Jones' big bat produced go-ahead runs for the Giants in the bottom of the fourth as he tripled with two aboard to give the Giants a 4-1 bulge. The Giants got an insurance run in the fifth as Grant Pollock singled and scored on Mike Lemmon's hit to right. Stan Cummings pitched the distance for the Braves, allowing 10 hits, walking 5 and striking out 6. The Jones-Mosolf pitching combine granted 4 hits, walked 4 and struck out 6. Jack DeWitt, with 2-for-4, was the top hitter for the Braves while Mat Little, 3-for-4, and Greg Jones, 2-for-4, supplied the power for the winners.

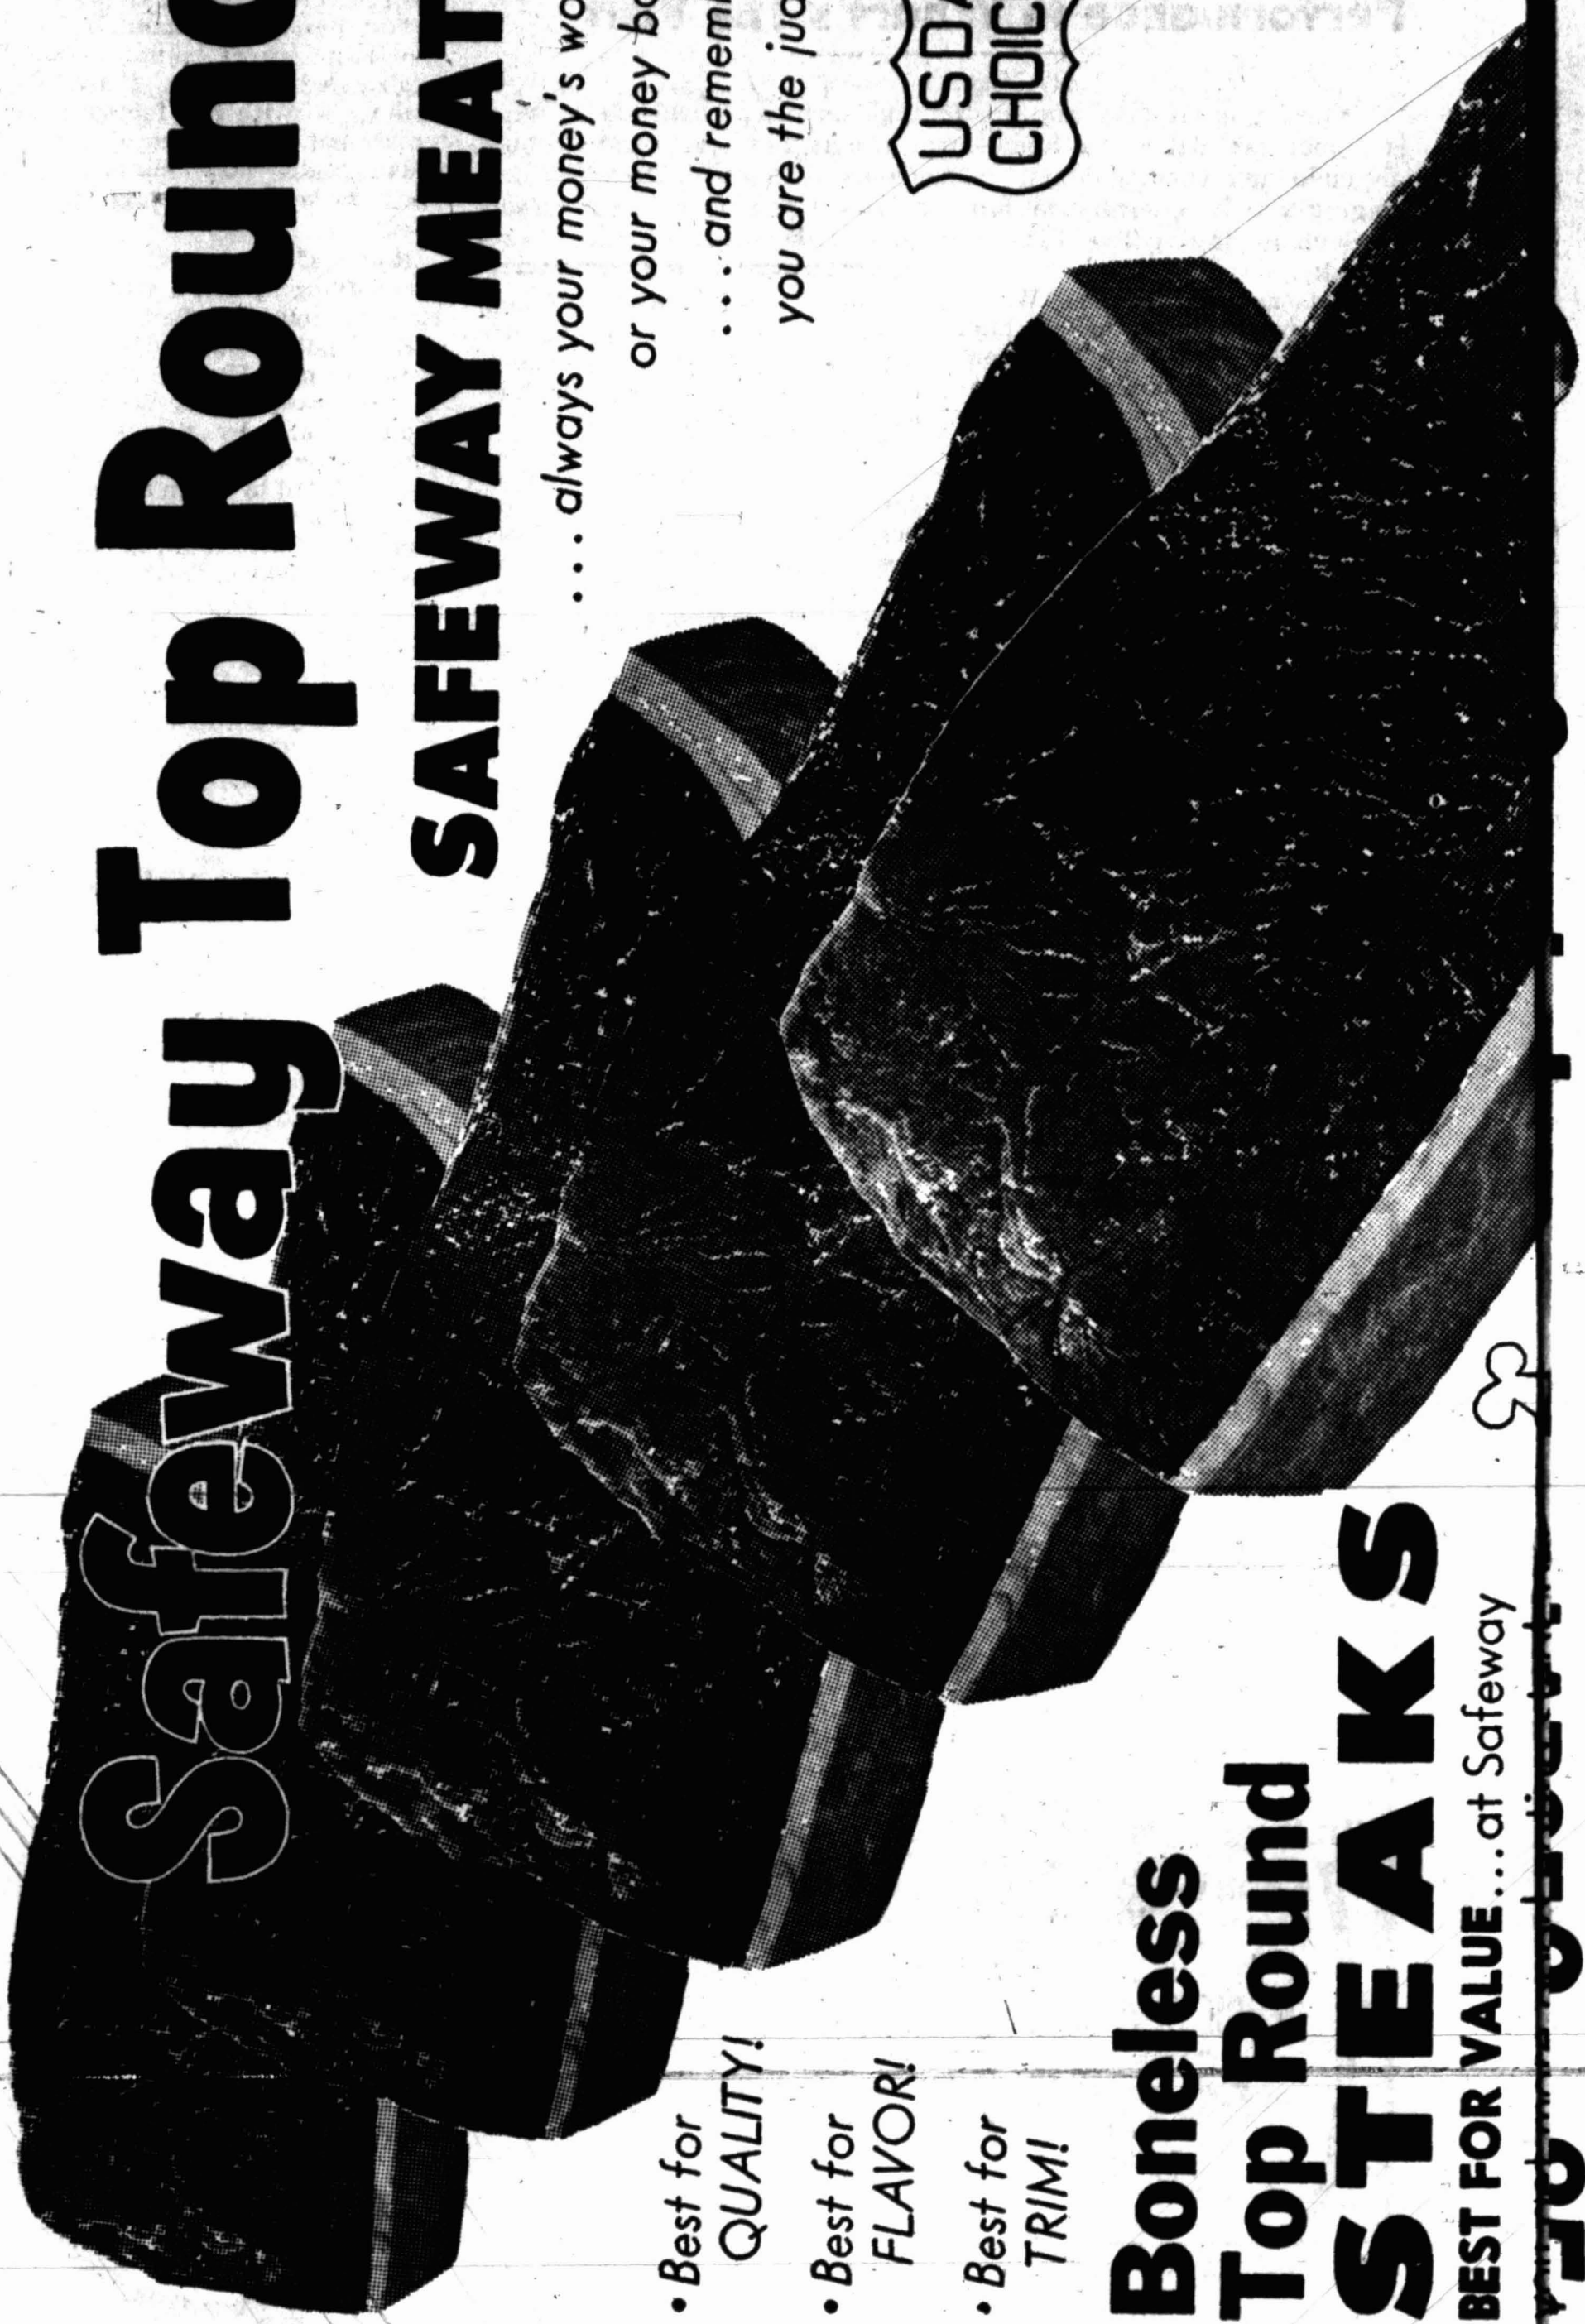

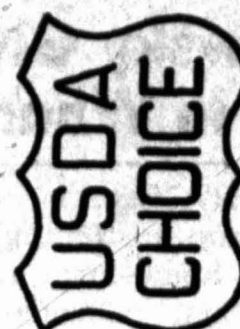

Tonight's game matches the Dodgers and Braves and Tuesday night's action will be between the Giants and Dodgers. All Community League games start at 6:00 o'clock at the High School diamond.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Carmel Youth Center's softball team continued its winning ways in the Monterey Recreation Socko League by clubbing the CYO, 13 to 1, in its last outing at Monterey's Jacks Park. Paced by Teddy Leidig's 5-for-5 hitting, the Carmel gang built up an eight-run lead in the first four innings and breezed to the win. Walt Helm also swung a big stick for Jack Giles' gang, collecting three safe blows to drive in four runs. Babe Ruth League All-Star action for two Carmel boys this week end as Forrest Cornwall and Steve Fairfield travel to Hollister for the Section playoffs. Forrest is slated for mound duty with the local All-Stars while Fairfield will patrol one of the outfield spots. The Peninsula gang drew a bye in Saturday's play but will swing into action in Sunday's finals. . . Big Jim Morton, one of the most underrated softball pitchers in Northern California, hurled consecutive no-hitters in his last two outings, blanking the Carmel Builders in PG Recreation League play and no-hitting Texaco in the Tri-City League. The burly right-hander has been a one-man pitching corps for the Peninsula Paint club this season, leading them to the Rec title, the Tri-City championship and winning a State Tournament bid. . . Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchants notched a 4-1 softball victory over the Fort Ord All-Stars in their last outing at Sunset Field. The Merchants parlayed Gene Zinani's fine pitching with Phil Ramirez's plate power to keep game control all the way. Jack McGaughey again demonstrated that he is the top first-baseman in Peninsula softball circles by making several phenomenal stops to save his mates from throwing errors. The classy left-hander covers the right side of the diamond like a blanket and always comes up with the big play when it is needed. . . Carmel's Babe Ruth squad wound up its season last Saturday by posting a 3-0 win over Monterey's Baldwin Piano aggregation. Steve Johnson, a brilliant pitching prospect from Carmel Valley, tossed a four-hit shutout job at Stan Newlin's crew to earn a 2-1 record for the season. In Sunday's Old-Timers vs. Junior All-Stars affair, the kids had too much stamina for the has-beens and outlasted them, 12 to 10. Carmel manager Hadley Hicks stroked a double for the old guys while Carmel's Ralph Juarez paced the kids with a pair of two-baggers. . . Last Saturday's scheduled Pony League game between the Carmel Braves and the Newman Pony Leaguers didn't materialize when the Newman squad ran into transportation difficulties. Efforts will be made to bring the classy San Joaquin Valley team to Carmel for an August booking with the Carmel Community League champs.

Studio Play Suggests Love Must Have Been Fun On Mount Olympus

By PATRICIA HALL

If I remember my mythology, the gods and goddesses on top of Mount Olympus relieved the boredom of their responsibilities by frolicsome adventures in love; even sometimes selecting a choice and tender mortal for their playful dalliance. According to a gay and tuneful musical comedy, they are still there and still at it. Out of This World, with lyrics and music by Cole Porter, is playing alternate weeks with Leave It To Jane at The Studio Theatre on Dolores Street. The theatre is dark Sunday nights only during the summer.

The book by Dwight Taylor and Reginald Lawrence is delightfully written.

Directed and staged by talented young Jerry De Bono, this is the merriest musical your reviewer has seen in a long, long time. The entire cast is so superbly coached, and each puts so much zest and enjoyment into his part that each is a star in his own right. Whether singing solo, or with a group, these young people have well trained, lovely singing voices, made richer by the piano playing of Gary Carver. It is a pleasure to listen to them.

The Olympian costumes by Virginia Pezzi are lavish and bright with gilt. They change the young men into beautiful godlings.

Jimmy Griffin is superb as Jupiter: tall, good-looking and lusty—and even sings yet—whose fancy is caught by a bride about to spend the first night of her honeymoon in the Arcadian Inn on an isle in modern Greece.

Gerry Kennon, as Juno, beautiful deadpan comic, is a match for Jupiter and is not above some playful dalliance of her own. She is stunning in Bermuda shorts.

Sylvia Kightly, as Night, is delightful, graceful and naughty.

Frankie Dewey, as Diana, is joyous.

Janine Johnston, as Venus, is a beautiful singing star.

Dave Wilson, as the bridegroom, is excellent, making the transition to his other role forceful and authentic.

Donna Work, pretty and luscious as a sun-warmed peach, enthusiastically learns of love from a gay and frolicsome Mercury, played by Don Osborn.

Helen, played by Donna Todd, is the lovely bride from New York, who is never quite sure what happened on her wedding day—or night, rather. Her voice was well suited to the lyrics.

Each deserves special mention, with a generous hand-clap for Joseph Joseph, as the ex-gangster from South Chicago. In a white toga and gold wreath, trying to keep in step during Climb Up The Mountain, he was a comic success.

Hobson's Choice, Comedy At Circle Theatre, Well Cast, Well Played

By PATRICIA HALL

Hobson's Choice! How many times we have said it and now week ends at the Circle Theatre, we understand more fully where the expression originated. Hobson's Choice by Harold Brighouse is delightful comedy, in that with all the maneuvering and managing of Maggie, as played by Rachel Hoffmann, it is a tender story of family unity and affection.

The direction by Frederick Rider was excellent and the casting perfect.

Rachel Hoffmann's presentation is that of a lovable, sturdy, older sister on the verge of spinsterhood who makes up her mind to get a husband and does something about it. With the ultimate success of her plans everyone is happy, even Hobson. She has a rich part and makes the most of it.

Edgar Pye, an experienced and talented actor, who we have enjoyed many times, was ideal as the frustrated widower father completely under the domination of his three daughters. This is another time when his natural Lancashire accent enriches his portrayal.

Peter Weldon as Will Mossop provided continual amusement in his well sustained characterization of the stupid and reluctant suitor of Maggie and who later blossoms out as a successful business man. Peter, originally from Indiana, graduated from Harvard last year and is presently at the Army Language School. His delightful interpretation of Will is his first theatrical appearance on the Peninsula.

Frederick Rider, substituting for James Alcorn now on vacation in his old home town of Montreal, Canada, gave a very polished performance as the crusty old doctor.

Betsy Pye, another of our favorites, on whose brief role the whole action of the play depended, was very good.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Toward the end of the fiscal year we generally run low on book money and walk softly so that we do not overspend. As a consequence, new books are few, and patrons are prone to sigh. Take heart, relief is on the way! New books are beginning to pour in and, as of this week, we have a plentiful supply of goodies for you. In the summer we accent fiction, because reading tastes most often do the same thing. Last week there were 15 delectable fiction bits and we shall try for another big selection this week. Last week also, we started three copies of The Leopard on their way because we had a long waiting list, and three copies looked like musts. There were four new mysteries, too. My, My!

This week we have a literary oddity to call to your attention, and in this case odd means unusual or strange rather than freakish. A publisher in Mexico has brought out a series of books, presumably for children, which contain the true classics of juvenile literature, translated into Spanish and beautifully illustrated. The illustrations are so lovely, and the books so large and unwieldy, that we are shelving them in the adult collection and will charge them out to parents and other adults interested in this sort of thing. The illustrations have a quality which seems to give them a soothing effect upon the reader. There are nine volumes, and they include such titles as Alice in Wonderland, The Nutcracker, Tales from the Arabian Nights, Grimm's Fairy Tales, The Book of the Enchanted Animals and many others. Just to look at them will give your soul a treat.

The several published books by Frank Moraes attest to his ability as a writer, and his last will add to that reputation. Mr. Moraes is editor-in-chief of the Express group of newspapers in India, and his latest book is entitled India Today.

In an effort to bring political facts to all readers during a political year, we have two collections of speeches by two prominent men. Putting First Things First is by Adlai Stevenson, and The Strategy of Peace is by John F. Kennedy. This latter book contains also an interview with Kennedy by John Fischer, the editor of Harper's magazine.

From politics to poetry, we have Gilbert Highet's new one entitled The Powers of Poetry, which is a collection of nine essays on poets and poetry. One is on Melody in Poetry and another on Rhythm in Poetry. There are discussions of various poets and their works and finally an essay entitled What Use is Poetry?

There are many more entertaining new books, so come along in and choose one, and a happy new fiscal year to you, too.

Pamela Buvia Married

Living in Pacific Grove are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean Lacey (Pamela Jeannette Buvia) who were married recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Buvia, on Corona Road in Carmel Highlands. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the Church of the Wayfarer officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her street-length white lace dress had a matching full-sleeved jacket. A wreath of orange blossoms held her shoulder-length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of tiny pink roses surrounding a white orchid.

Lynne Buvia was her sister's attendant in an organza dress printed in shades of lavender and blue. Her bouquet combined white carnations with lavender.

Best man for the groom was John Mason.

Mrs. Buvia wore a royal blue jersey sheath dress with a matching feather hat and a lavender orchid for her daughter's marriage. Mrs. Mary Lacey of Pacific Grove, the groom's mother, was dressed in an off-white sheath and a corsage of yellow roses.

The marriage took place in front of the living room mantel decorated with candles and white gladioli. Arrangements of pink and deep red roses and garden flowers were placed on bookcases at each side of the fireplace.

After the bridal couple had cut their tiered cake they left for a honeymoon at Big Sur.

The bride graduated from Carmel High School last month. Her husband was a student at Hartnell College last year after completing military service.

Five Life Diplomas Granted

The Monterey County School Board has granted life diplomas to Carmel High School Principal Warren Edwards (general elementary, secondary and administration); John G. Graham, High School counselor (general secondary); Dan Yurkovich, High School physical education (general secondary); Mrs. Romayne L. Hill, High School German teacher (general secondary); and Mrs. Bette M. Mackey, eighth grade Tularcitos School (general junior high).

Life diplomas are granted after at least five years of satisfactory service and administrative recommendation in the appropriate field of education.

Mrs. Gann And Polly Home

Mrs. Ernest K. Gann and her daughter, Polly, have returned from Europe. Polly left last year for Switzerland shortly after graduating from Carmel High School and spent last summer attending a school in Neufchatel, the rest of the year studying French at the University of Geneva, also attending lectures in Russian political history and French history. She met her mother in London early in the summer.

Mrs. Gann went abroad to attend the Orchid Conference in London. She saw orchids at Kew Gardens, in the hothouses of the Royal Horticultural Society, also with Polly, orchid collections in private gardens outside London. Then they went to Geneva so that Mrs. Gann could meet Polly's friends at the pension where the latter lived while studying at the university.

Polly's roommate was an Italian girl who spoke no English. Consequently Polly acquired a conversational knowledge of Italian. This was useful after they left Geneva, Mrs. Gann reports, as she and Polly stayed on the Riviera in an apartment belonging to Mrs. Corrado Gallassi of Rome, the mother of Mrs. Gann's daughter-in-law, Karen (Mrs. George Gann), "and the servants only spoke Italian." The apartment is situated in the Regina Hotel, where Queen Victoria stayed for five years, and still entirely Victorian in atmosphere and furnishings, Mrs. Gann says.

Mrs. Gallassi was in California at the time, seeing her grandchild, Allysonne Lisse Gann, who was born on May 10 just before her other grandmother, Mrs. Gann, left for Europe.

Before joining her mother in London, Polly stopped to see her father on his new ketch, The Black Watch, which was built near Copenhagen. He had planned to take the ship to Iceland this summer with his son, Steven, as a member of the crew. However, ten days ago Mr. Gann telephoned home to say that he had abandoned this voyage "as there has been no decent weather since I saw you in June." He was "sitting out" a North Sea storm in a fjord north of Oslo when he telephoned and now plans to sail south to Scotland.

Glen Salyers Troop 32 Leader

New leader of Boy Scout Troop 32 is Glen Salyers. For over a year this troop has been without a scoutmaster. Mr. Salyer previously was a local Cubmaster. He will be helped by David Vincent as assistant scoutmaster.

Dave, a student at Monterey Peninsula College, took the troop to Camp Pico Blanco on the Little Sur River for two weeks. There were nine advancements in scout ranks and 25 merit badges earned by the Scouts during this time. Awards were made recently at a Court of Honor when the following Scouts were advanced to Second Class rank: Jon Forsman, Jerry Forsman, Peter Rand, John Orehek, Robert Lindner, Pete Vincent, Steve Abbott, John Anzini and Mike Thelen.

Tim Hudson achieved Star rank; Edward Neroda and Glenn Kovacevich received Life badges.

After a candlelight ceremony James Hatlo, John Moon and Dennis Jones were invested as tenderfoots.

Troop 32 is sponsored by the Carmel Rotary Club.

Symphony Guild Drive

Last year the Monterey County Symphony Guild contributed $2,500 to the support of the Monterey County Symphony. This aid was raised at the Guild's Gourmet Party.

This year the Guild will have a fashion show in August as well as the gourmet party later in the year. At present members are checking lists mailed to them in an endeavor to find out in which Guild activity they wish to participate. Especially helpful to the orchestra during past years have been the Symphony Preview teas sponsored by the Guild and the refreshments served at coffee-breaks during orchestra rehearsals.

Mrs. Rhea Diveley is president of the Guild this year; Mrs. Douglas Beattie, first vice president; Mrs. Guy Cochran, second vice president; Mrs. Lester B. Robinson, third vice president. Miss Ethel O'Connor is recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Bickel, corresponding secretary; Mrs. King Benton, treasurer.

Art On The Peninsula

The Laky Galleries officially opened this week with two parties, one for painters, one for press. Since spring, Zyta and Les Laky with the help of their college-age sons, Les Jr. and Mat, and their teenage daughter, Ginger, have transformed a former appliance shop in the Ricketts Building on San Carlos Street into three attractive exhibition galleries. Pictures on display are the work of 60 Carmel artists. Included are paintings of the late John O'Shea, Armin Hansen and William Silva, whose names have been synonymous with art in Carmel for over 40 years.

Zyta Laky began painting in her native Poland when still a child. She later studied in Budapest and there met her Hungarian husband.

In 1948 they fled with their children to Austria, later emigrated to the United States. They lived in the Middle West before coming to California, and made their home in Santa Rosa before moving here five years ago.

The Laky Galleries, a cooperative family project, are open from 11:30-5:30 o'clock every day. Zyta Laky welcomes visitors. All pictures are for sale.

Non-juried shows at the Craft Center are scheduled for the fifteenth day of each month. Prizes will be awarded to first and second place winners. There will be, also, a special award for children's art work submitted. Winners are chosen by popular vote.

This month's winners at Friday afternoon's show were, first, Lucille Leimert of Carmel with a collage. She has been attending the Jean Varda collage workshop sponsored by the local chapter of the American Federation of Arts. Second place went to an oil marine by Donna Seaver of Carmel. Donnie Adams, 11, won the special award with a clown picture.

The next Craft Center show will be on August 15.

The board of directors of the Carmel Art Association announces that no new members will be accepted in the association this October because of the building changes being made at the gallery. In the spring there will be an opportunity for those artists wishing to become members to submit their work to the jury.

The August exhibition of the work of members of the Carmel Art Association will be hung August 2 and will be open to the public Wednesday, August 3. Peg Murray will be the chairman, and the other members of the jury will be Donald Teague, Myron Oliver, Ann Rugh and Fred Klepich.

The Lawrence Drake Gallery is exhibiting, through July 31, a one-man show of paintings by Paul Darrow. Born in Pasadena, Mr. Darrow studied at the Fine Arts Centre in Colorado Springs, at Scripps College and at the Claremont Graduate School.

An instructor at Scripps College since 1954, Mr. Darrow is also instructor of design, Los Angeles County Art Institute. He has exhibited nationally in group and one-man shows and was included in the 1955 Biennale at Sao Paulo, Brazil. He has won many purchase awards and prizes and his murals are in several public buildings in California.

Continuing in the Gallery's Print Room, is a one-man show of color etchings by Leonard Edmonson. On display is his print Labyrinth which won first prize at the annual All-City Art Festival in Los Angeles last month.

The Drake Gallery is situated at San Carlos and Eighth. Hours are 12-30-5:30 o'clock daily, except Mondays.

The work of two local photographers, Brett Weston and Wynn Bullock, is included in the Photography at Mid-Century exhibition that opened Saturday at the M. H. de Young Museum in San Francisco.

The show, organized by the George Eastman House in celebration of its tenth anniversary, includes 257 photographs by 158 photographers throughout the world. Each was invited to submit what they considered their best work in the past ten years. Exhibition hours are 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock daily until August 15. Admission is free.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How scientific prayer leads to a clearer understanding of Truth will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" will include the following passages from the Bible (Luke 11:11, 13): "If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent? . . . If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?"

The importance of prayer is also emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (11:27-31): "Prayer cannot change the unalterable Truth, nor can prayer alone give us an understanding of Truth; but prayer, coupled with a fervent habitual desire to know and do the will of God, will bring us into all Truth."

by the Fort Ord Rod and Gun Club, and authorized by Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, commanding general of the post.

The dates are this Saturday and next, from noon to 5:00 o'clock; and this Sunday and next from 9:00-5:00 o'clock. A range fee of $1.00 will defray the cost of operating the pits at Fort Ord Beach Range No. 8.

Firers must furnish their own weapons and ammunition, and may fire from either the 100-yard or 200-yard distance. A qualified gunsmith will be on the range each day to make any sight, trigger or other minor repairs and adjustments. This service is furnished without charge by the Fort Ord Rod and Gun Club.

In addition, Rod and Gun Club Juniors will operate a soft drink and candy concession.

Fort Ord Beach Range No. 8, is located just off State Highway 1 across the street from Fort Ord. Any MP at the installation gates will direct firers to the range.

FISH PLANT

The state department of fish and game planted the following Monterey County streams this week with catchable size trout: Arroyo Seco Creek (upper area), Big Sur River, Carmel River at Prince's and Syndicate camps.

PADRE GUEST COACH IN OAKLAND RAIDER CAMP

Brad Meyers, a resident of Carmel for the past year and a guest coach with the Carmel High varsity, is making a bid for a job with the Oakland entry in the American Football League. Brad made the short trek to Santa Cruz a week ago Sunday and joined 80 other gridders in Monday's initial workout at the Santa Cruz High School field. The Raiders plan a six-week tryout period before the squad is pared down to the 33 players allowed in the AFL rules.

Brad is no stranger to professional football, having seen service with the Los Angeles Rams, the Philadelphia Eagles, and the Baltimore Colts. Extremely fast and an excellent pass receiver, the former Bucknell College star is equally at position and should be a valuable performer for Coach Eddie Erdelatz's professional crew.

WINS PHELAN AWARD

A former Carmelite, Bill Rushworth, won a $250 James D. Phelan Award for his poetic drama, The Side Show. He wrote the drama under the pen name of Thor O. Svenson.

Bill lived here with his mother, Mrs. Agnes Bell. Presently he is living in San Diego where he is director of the acting school of the Globe Theatre in Balboa Park. A new book of poems he is working on will be published this fall.

Carmel Convention Aftermath

Democratic Party personalities stopped here this week on their way home from the Los Angeles convention. Governor Adlai Stevenson was here overnight on Monday. He was accompanied by his three sons, John, Adlai Jr. and Borden, also his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson Jr.

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota with Mrs. Humphrey and their son, Hubert Jr., arrived on Sunday and left on Tuesday. Senator J. William Fulbright left on Wednesday after a three-day visit.

Incidentally, convention chairman Governor Leroy Collins of Florida was a Carmel resident while on active military duty at Fort Ord some years ago. His son, Leroy Jr. attended Sunset School during this period.

Old English Tea On MPVS Tour

An old-fashioned English tea will be served in the patio of the John M. Garland garden in Pebble Beach on August 10 as a feature of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services' Garden Tour and Flower Show.

To add color and charm to the event, several daughters of MPVS members in old English costumes will circulate among the guests. These daughters are Nancy Barrows, Dana Booth, Carol Creighton, Shirley Cutler, Mrs. Roderick Dewar, Pamela Perry and Mrs. Lewis Walker.

The Garland garden, with sweeping views of the coast seen across acres of lawn and profusions of bright flowers, is particularly suited to be the background for a tea presented in the style of a bygone era. Mrs. Phyllis Dennis is chairman of the tea committee.

Renee Vallon To Wed August 13

The marriage of Renee Matilda Vallon and Paul Harrison Glennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Glennan of Manhattan Beach, will take place on August 13 in the Church of the Wayfarer. Their engagement was announced recently by Renee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vallon of Carmel Valley.

Renee's maid of honor will be her sister, Roberta Vallon. Her bridesmaids will be Cal Poly classmates Marilyn Harris of Lockford and Louise Sturges of Bakersfield.

Renee and her fiance met at Cal Poly. Renee graduated from the San Luis Obispo college in June as a home economics and education major. She will teach next year in Torrance. She graduated from Carmel High School in 1955.

Her future husband served in the Navy for two years before entering Cal Poly where he has studied architecture for two years. They will live in Redondo Beach after their marriage and Paul will continue his education in that area.

Lillian Hager July Bride

Lillian Hager, daughter of Mrs. Joel Plumb of Carmel, was married on July 10 to Dustin Farnham Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dustin Farnham of Marina. The ceremony took place in the Monterey Moose Hall.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Joel Plumb. She wore a white satin gown. An insert of lace accented the high neckline of the long-sleeved fitted bodice below which fell a full floor-length skirt. A flower headband held her elbow-length veil in place and she carried an old-fashioned nosegay bouquet.

Patricia Shirley was her attendant in a green voile dress.

William Shirley was best man for the groom and ushers were Alan Hager and David Hough.

Mrs. Plumb wore an ivory sheath dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother, Mrs. Farnham, had on a pink sheath with white accessories.

The young couple will live in Pacific Grove. Both are graduates of Carmel High School.

Jeanne Radcliffe M.A.

Jeanne Fratessa was awarded a master of arts in teaching degree last month at the seventy-eighth commencement of Radcliffe College, Harvard University. She graduated with honors from Stanford University before going to Radcliffe and during her undergraduate years studied abroad at the Stanford-in-Germany campus.

Jeanne was valedictorian of the Class of 1955 at Carmel High School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Fratessa.

Senior Craftsmen and Artists

The Monterey Peninsula Senior Craftsmen and Painters gave a tea on Friday in the Garden Gallery of Party Carousel Studio. Hostesses were Miss Estelle Standard and Miss Kay Huntington, owners of Party Carousel, and who provide space for senior craftsmen and artists to display their work.

Miss Standard and Miss Huntington reported at the July meeting of the group in Carmel Foundation Town House that since March, 32 craftsmen have registered and displayed their work there, and since May when the local artists joined the organization, nine watercolorists and oil painters have hung their pictures in the Garden Gallery, which they themselves beautified for the effective display of their pictures.

The Garden Gallery is unique not only because the pictures are the work of senior artists, some of whom are nationally recognized professional artists and some of whom are retired from other professions and amateurs in art, but because all of the paintings offered are priced within reasonable limits so that they will especially appeal to tourists who wish to take home a hand-painted memory of their stay on the Peninsula.

President Mrs. Helen V. Bennett asked for a report from Mrs. Eunice Messent on how the $300, that was originally donated by the Carmen Foundation to inaugurate this project, was spent to date. There is a balance left of about $25 after equipping the craftsmen with display cases, beautifying the garden and erecting fences for hanging pictures and for incidental clerical expenses.

Miss Estelle Standard reported that the Monterey Peninsula Senior Craftsmen had sold almost $1,000 worth of their work.

Mrs. Bennett issued an invitation to all craftsmen and artists who are interested in selling their work to call her at OL 9-2391 if they wish to take advantage of these year-round opportunities, especially now that the tourist season is here.

Walter Lehmann

Dr. Walter Lehmann died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital following a period of ill health. He settled here 20 years ago after coming to the United States in 1939 from Albania where he was personal physician to King Zog before that monarch was deposed by the Italians.

Dr. Lehmann was born in Germany. He studied medicine at universities in Bonn, Freiburg, Berlin and Geneva before World War I and was on medical staffs in Frankfurt and Goettingen before going to Albania. Dr. Lehmann also worked in the United States with brain surgeon Dr. Harvey Cushing, and at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota.

In Albania Dr. Lehmann was placed by King Zog in charge of military and civil hospitals as well as being the king's personal physician. He was assisted in some phases of his work, such as controlling malaria, by his wife, Vera, also a physician.

In Carmel Dr. Lehmann was active in musical circles, also a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church, and took an active and friendly interest in the community and its people.

He was the author of 61 monographs and articles on medical subjects, interested in cancer research and developments in the field of para-psychology, and carried on an active correspondence with Dr. Rhine of Duke University whose psychical research studies

The Tender Trap Provides Summer Fun At The White Oaks

White Oaks Summer Theatre opened last week in Carmel Valley in its second play of the current season, The Tender Trap by Max Shulman and Robert Smith. The play, which will be presented every evening except Monday and Tuesday until August 7, has proved an audience pleaser both on the stage and on the screen. The selection of this play is in keeping with White Oaks Theatre philosophy—that of giving its audience light comedies and light musicals at top level quality.

Carole Warren of San Jose and Dan Sullivan of San Francisco head a fine cast in this fast-paced comedy about a New York bachelor who is surrounded by so many beautiful girls that he sometimes "just gets a little tired of it all."

Sally Eggert, Leilani Michaels, Mary Sue Tatum and Carole Warren provide a four-fold feminine interest unlike any other play. Strong supporting players in the personages of Dennis Kane, Pare Lorentz and Cliff Rivers complete the cast.

The play is under the direction of Hal Ulric, drama director at Hartnell College and currently managing-director of White Oaks Summer Theatre. The theatre is located in Carmel Valley Village. Curtain time, 8:30 o'clock.

and experiments he found most revealing.

In addition to his wife, Dr. Lehmann is survived by two sons, Klaus, associated with the television industry in New York, and Hans, at present representing an American firm in Germany; a sister, Miss Helene Lehmann of Carmel; and a brother, Arthur Lehmann of Carmel.

Funeral services are pending and will be announced later by Paul Mortuary.

Joan And Warren's Wedding Day

Joan Engle and Warren Masten will be married on August 10 in All Saints' Episcopal Church. A reception following the ceremony will be held in the home of Joan's mother, Mrs. Adrienne Bancker Engle. Warren is the son of Mrs. Hildreth Hare and the late Richard Masten.

son's clear and sweet soprano carried the part with her well-known excellency and charm. Risto was impressive as also was narrator Riffel. It is an inspired work throughout, culminating in a powerful finale. Never before in Carmel has a chorus rendered so fine and stimulating a performance, one that ended much too soon. Unrestrained and long applause showed the effect of it on the audience, many of whom found their way back stage to congratulate all, including Angie Machado and Priscilla Salgo, who assisted in preparing the fine chorus.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON

At the Church of the Wayfarer, Ludwig Altman who has been the organ soloist of the festival for 11 years, played to a full house, a rare recital that included a group of old Spanish pieces and a group that showed Bach's gradual development in organ composition. The Spanish organ pieces, played with Altman's scholarly perception and manipulation, in form and color, were a new experience for many.

James Schwabacher, the San Francisco tenor, also a long-time festival soloist, gave another rare group of compositions from the notebook of Anna Magdalena, the second wife of Johann Sebastian Bach, singing them with tonal art and sensitive interpretation. He will be soloist again on Friday in the Bach Cantata No. 55. Altman will again be heard on Thursday.

TUESDAY EVENING

No more interesting program could have been offered than the one of The Play of Daniel, preceded by joyous pieces of Michele Stratico, Vivaldi and J. S. Bach that used the strings of the orchestra, and well, indeed, were they performed. The Collegium Musicum under which these were named was historically associated with educational institutions that date back to 1530 in Frankfurt, and Bach became the director of the collegium founded by Telemann. The happy lilting movements and melodies of these works under Salgo direction, were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

The 12th Century liturgical drama, The Play of Daniel, is based on a transcription by the Reverend Rembert Weakland from a manuscript found in the British Museum. It used the entire festival forces, directed by Glynne W. Gladstone Wickham, director at the Old Vic Theatre in London and a noted author of books on old stage matters. He was dressed as the first Monk to act as narrator, which he did with the good diction that characterizes the English stage. The picture created by the costumes, posing and movements of the characters was a classic forerunner of what we now know as opera, oratorio and even Gilbert & Sullivan in its repeated patter.

Patrick Daugherty as Belshazzar's Prince; Roderick Risto as Belshazzar; Herbert Cabral and Stephen Janzen as Wise Men; Belshazzar's Queen, Nancy Foster; Daniel, Paul Mayo; Darius, Bruce Remsburg; First Angel, Nancy Cronburg; Second Angel, Marie Gibson, and Second Monk, David Walton were some of the principal characters, with attendants and musicians, all conducted by Sandor Salgo in both on and off stage groups. When Daniel and then his accusers were thrown to the lions, there was great amusement at the dressed up lions, but otherwise the whole play had dignity and spiritual significance and beauty of color and arrangement. It will be repeated on Saturday. The Thursday morning Symposium on the Play of Daniel will be led by Alexander Fried and reviewed for next week's Pine Cone.

The solo for the Vivaldi Concerto for oboe and strings was played by Raymond Duste whose work is always brilliant. For the Bach Concerto, Putnam Aldrich was at the harpsichord in another brilliant performance and will be further reviewed later for his Wednesday recital at the Carmel Woman's Club on the same instrument that once belonged to the famous harpsichordist Landowska.

Dragon Land Play For Children At White Oaks Sunday

The Land of the Dragon, a Chinese children's theatre play, will open at the White Oaks Summer Theatre in Carmel Valley on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, according to Hal Ulrici, managing-director of the stock company. The play is under the direction of Miss Sally Eggeri, who has been working in children's shows for more than ten years.

The Land of the Dragon is the story of the lovely Princess Jade Pure who must wed before her eighteenth birthday if she is to inherit the kingdom. To prevent this, her aunt, the wicked and haughty Lady Precious Harp and her crony Covet Spring have imprisoned the Princess within the palace and spread word throughout the land that she is ugly, so that no suitor will appear. The hero, road Wanderer, possesses the power to talk to all the animals and capture the heart of the children. The plot has many complications and is full of intrigue.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone mission which considers the matter on Tuesday. The lots are immediately adjacent to the Peninsula Community Hospital property.

Commissioners stated there was no demonstrated need for the rezoning. They understood that the subdivision was to be "country type" when it was presented to them by Clayton Neill representing owner J. O. Handley. Commissioners wanted this atmosphere retained and duplex use was not compatible.

Monterey County's population has increased by 67,372 persons in the past ten years according to figures in the news letter of the County Supervisors Association of California. The 1960 U.S. census preliminary figures show a total of 197,152 persons in this county as compared to 130,489 in 1950. Estimated final 1960 count will be 197,870.

Dale Cox, litterbug control officer for the Monterey County Sheriff's Office, warns local residents that he is watching for persons who dump garbage of any kind in the ocean within 20 miles of the coastline.

He has received complaints from Carmel Point and Carmel Highlands residents that grass cuttings and garden refuse (considered garbage) have been dumped into the ocean at Wildcat Creek and along Scenic Drive from the tip of Carmel Point north to Carmel Beach.
